Play to be surreal experience

Southwestern's Department of Communication and Theatre is set to open the 2011-2012 theatre season with Kira Obolensky's comedy, Lobster Alice.

The SWOSU Players are presenting the production at 7:30 p.m. nightly on Oct. 6-8 in the SWOSU Hilltop Theatre.

Admission is $3 for non-students, $5 for adults, and free for individuals with a SWOSU ID. Reservations can be made by calling the Box Office at 580-774-6046 from 4-7 p.m. Monday through Friday.

According to director Steve Strickler, the play is a fictional speculation of a factual event that took place in 1946. The surrealist artist Salvador Dali went to Hollywood to work at the Disney Studios where he had been commissioned to create a short animated surrealist ballet based on the popular song "Destino" or "You Tempt Me." He spent most of his time with a young animator who was working on the color styling and design of Alice in Wonderland. Lobster Alice is a highly dramatized account of those six weeks. The play itself becomes extremely surrealistic as the characters work through their madcap adventure.

Obolensky's characters include Salvador Dali, portrayed by senior Cody Carnahan, Sayre; John Finch, portrayed by freshman Merritt Taylor, Cordell; Alice Horowitz, portrayed by freshman Carmen Rutledge, Lawton (Christian); and Thorton/Caterpillar, portrayed by senior Tyler Powell, Woodward.

Adam Boothby works on the set of Lobster Alice, the theatre production that opens Oct. 6 and runs through Oct. 8.

The Women's Chorus, under the direction of Joyce Adams Curtis, practices for Thursday's performance. The Music Department will present four choir concerts this Thursday in the Fine Arts Center lobby.

Choirs to perform four concerts

The SWOSU Choral Department will present four choirs in concert this Thursday, October 6, at 7 p.m. in the lobby of the Fine Arts Center.

Dr. Daniel Farris will conduct the Men's Chorus and Southwestern Singers in works by Franz Schubert, C. Morimer Wiske, Cecil Forsyth, Felix Mendelssohn and Charles Villers Stanford. The pianist for the Men's Chorus is SWOSU faculty member Janis South.

The Women's Chorus, under the direction of Joyce Adams Curtis, will sing the Renaissance piece Sicut rosa, by Orlandus Lassus, and 20th century pieces Gentle Nature by Eleanor Daley, In Autumn by Gwyneth Walker, and Praise His Holy Name by Keith Hampton. Pianist is Angela Farris and soloists on In Autumn are Jorga Hammond, Amarillo (TX), and Courteney Harrald, Siloam Springs (AR).

The Chamber Choir, also directed by Curtis, will perform Renaissance madrigals, Sing we and chant it by Thomas Morley, and The Silver Swan by Orlando Gibbons. Also programmed are Felix Mendelssohn's Drei Volkslieder, a Syrian/Iraqi song F g Eln Khel arranged by Salim Bali, and Aaron Copland's Zion's Walls.

Dr. Robin Griffieath, new adjunct voice instructor at SWOSU, will perform the tenor solos in the Bali. Dr. Dennis Widen will serve as pianist on the Copland piece.

Admission is free to the concert, and the public is invited and encouraged to attend.

the Bulldog team this year. The group's decision to join forces at SWOSU was in part of the Bulldogs history of welcoming and embracing Polynesian football players to the team.

Leote, a 6-4, 260 pound defensive end, decided to forego his senior year at the University of Utah for the small rural school located in western Oklahoma. He learned of SWOSU from his cousins, John and Henry Niutei, who both concluded outstanding careers with the Bulldogs in 2010.

"They told me they had a great experience here and were able to better focus on school and buckle down," Leote said. "I just felt that was something that I didn't have at the University of Utah. Here it's a lot more one-on-one. The coaches and teachers have a relationship with me and that makes me feel like I'm getting better every day."

While Leote has been tutored for multiple years by some of the top college coaches in the nation, his teammate

Tevita Kulu is just learning the game after growing up playing rugby in New Zealand as a youth.

Kulu, who goes by the name of Stanley, is a physical marvel and considered one of the strongest players on the team. The 6-0, 255 pound defensive tackle can bench press more than 420 pounds and has top marks in multiple weight lifting categories.

"When I came here I had no technique, nothing. I really didn't know my purpose or what I was doing," Kulu said.

Kulu's introduction to football came at the age of 17 when his family moved to Pittsburgh, Calif. He spent his first years as a special-teams player. He waited until his second year at Diablo Junior College before ever played a live down from scrimmage.

"I've been watching a lot of what the other guys do and listening to the coaches," Kulu said. "They have given me a chance to play by stepping up the plate and just working hard."

A chance to play football in the United States is what brought Sam Fruean to SWOSU after growing up in Pago Pago, American Samoa. Fruean is a well-liked giant who carries a constant smile on his 6-5, 330-pound frame.

"People use athletics, education, music and other things as a way to get off the island to earn a college scholarship," Fruean said. "That is why we push ourselves because we understand we represent a lot of people...not just us. Many Poly's hope to come to the States in the future. It's up for us to create a future gateway while we're

The path blazed by the group at SWOSU appears to be open and growing wider each day according to Lancer Iosefa, a running back from San Jose, Calif. Iosefa tells how his dormitory room is a constant hangout place for his teammates.

"Seems like everywhere I have been, we've always been a gathering center for the team," Iosefa said. "A lot of guys are interested in learning more of our culture and ask us what it's like on the islands. They want to be around us because they feel that sense of unity, family, and tradition we share. It is something they might never had growing up. We simply call it Fa'a-Samoa, meaning the Samoan way."

No matter the final outcome of SWOSU's 2011 football season, the journey to that destination will be more colorful and memorable thanks to the fun-loving spirit of a handful of players who have eagerly shared their rich heritage and culture with their teammates.

SWOSU hosts second annual pharmacy professionalism dinner

Southwestern Oklahoma State University's College of Pharmacy recently held its 2nd annual pharmacy professionalism dinner with Dr. James Kirk of Edmond serving as keynote speaker.

Kirk is the district pharmacy supervisor for CVS Pharmacy and a 2006 graduate of the SWOSU College of Pharmacy.

The former Bulldog extolled the college and its faculty while offering students advice on how to interrelate knowledge and practice. He encouraged students to strive for the highest professional standards.

The SWOSU College of Pharmacy event is held to welcome both the incoming fall class and the incoming class from the prior spring. The dinner, sponsored by CVS Pharmacy, was organized by the professionalism committee, which is chaired by faculty member Dr. Kristin Montarella. Additional pharmacy faculty and students serving on the committee include faculty members: Drs. Jaehwa Choi, Jacqueline Gregory, Edna Patatanian, Hardeep Saluja, Diana Steinl, Virgil Van Dusen and students Kristen Koepping, John Thompson and Emily Scott.

The SWOSU College of Pharmacy is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education, the accrediting agency for Colleges of Pharmacy in the United States. The school is also a member of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy.

The SWOSU College of Pharmacy offers a Doctor of Pharmacy (Pharm. D.) degree. Students must complete two years of pre-professional study, including general education courses, as well as prescriptive courses in biology, chemistry, physics and math. The pre-professional courses are followed by four years in the COP, including courses in the pharmaceutical sciences, pharmacy practice and an academic year of full-time experiential education and training.

Admission to the Pharm. D. program is very competitive and approximately 85 students are admitted annually.

Established in 1939, the SWOSU College of Pharmacy continues to be dedicated to the tradition of excellence in pharmacy education. The college will celebrate its 75th anniversary in 2014.

What's on my mind

By Ryan Hendrickson

I often find myself disgruntled after midnight when I'm hungry because I know the only place in Weatherford to get a meal is at Jerry's.

In my four years at SWOSU, I have frequently questioned the reasoning behind fast food joints not wanting to take advantage of the college population. I know there has to be plenty of revenue to be gained.

If I was able, I would open a place where students could solve these late night hunger problems. If anyone out there is capable and willing, I would definitely recommend it. I know for a fact I'm not the only one who supports this idea.

How often are you up late studying or just hanging out when that hunger strikes? It's annoying knowing there isn't an option for a quick meal.

So I close with this: People of Weatherford, hear me now. I'm a lazy college kid who just wants a late night meal. Please Help!

Upcoming events

Tickets still on sale for Panorama event

The Buried Life is coming to Southwestern Oklahoma State University, and tickets are now on sale for the October 12 Panorama event on the Weatherford campus.

The Buried Life originated in 2006 when four now-twenty-something's—Ben Nemtin, Dave Lingwood, Duncan Penn and Jonnie Penn—set out in an old RV to complete a list of "100 Things We Want To Do Before We Die" and help out strangers along the way accomplish something on their own lists.

All four members of The Buried Life will be at SWOSU to share their story. The event is Wednesday, October 12, at 7:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center on the Weatherford campus.

Advance tickets are $5 for SWOSU students and faculty/staff with a valid SWOSU I.D. and $10 for others. All tickets at the door will be $20.

THE SOUTHWESTERN is the student newspaper of Southwestern Oklahoma State University. It is published every Wednesday during the fall and spring semesters, except during holidays and finals week. Students in the editing class serve as section editors, and students in the news gathering and reporting class serve as writers.

The editorial board meets every Wednesday at 2:00 p.m. in the journalism lab, Campbell 211.

THE SOUTHWESTERN encourages comments from the student body, faculty, and administration in the form of letters to the editor. All letters must include a name for consideration; however, the name may be withheld upon request.

The opinions expressed within signed editorials are the opinions of the writers; the opinions expressed in unsigned, boxed editorials are the opinion of the staff. Neither is necessarily the opinion of the university administration, staff or faculty.

Interim dean chosen for Sayre campus

Sherron Manning has been named the interim dean of the College of Associate and Applied Sciences on the Southwestern-Sayre campus.

Manning has been serving as the director of counseling and assessment at the Sayre campus since 2004. Prior to her employment at SWOSU, she was a science teacher (biology, chemistry, physics, computer science) at Erick High School for 10 years and a science teacher at Altus Junior High School for one year.

Manning has both a Bachelor of Science in Secondary Natural Science Education and a Master of Education in School Counseling from SWOSU. She replaces Dr. Jim James, who retired earlier this semester. Dr. Blake Sonobe, senior vice president and provost at SWOSU, said Manning brings a wealth of educational and administrative experience to the position.

Academic team wins Mind Game round

The SWOSU Blue team defeated Southwestern Christian University, 200-40, in the first round of Mind Games, a new academic quiz show that aired September 28 on KSBI-TV in Oklahoma City.

The SWOSU team won $2,250 in scholarship money and will advance to the 2nd round at a later date.

Members of the SWOSU Blue team are: Zeke Mills, Springfield MO; Tanner Fisher, Calumet; and Kayla Argo, Plains KS. Alternate is Trent Boesen, Ninnekah.

Another SWOSU team, the White team, will play its first-round match on October 19 against East Central University.

Mind Games is an Oklahoma academic challenge that is a buzzer quiz game based on knowledge in all academic fields. The competition is bringing together teams of students from Oklahoma colleges and universities in a weekly battle of the brains. Students are competing for scholarship awards totaling $200,000.

Coach of the SWOSU teams is Kevin Collins.

Bulldogs come back to win on last play

DURANT, Okla. — Southwestern Oklahoma State University players on the field were jumping up and down with joy, the coaches on the sidelines wore huge smiles and dozens of spectators who followed the Bulldogs to Durant joined in the celebration of a 23-20 football victory over Southeastern Oklahoma State University.

Colton Rainey kicked a pair of 21-yard field goals in the final 1:57, the last of which came with one second to play to give the Bulldogs their first victory over Southeastern in 10 years. SWOSU head coach Dan Cocannouer told the KWEY radio post-game show that it was hard to pick heroes in a game in which the Bulldogs came from behind three different times.

"I couldn't be more proud of our guys than I am right now," Cocannouer said. "We never gave up. That's the most important thing. We hung in there and hung in there and things finally broke our way at the end."

Cornerback Barry Williams set up Rainey's game-winner by picking off Southeastern quarterback Logan Turner and returning it 27 yards to the Savage Storm's 15-yard line. Williams interception was one of four by SWOSU on the evening, three of which came on SOSU's final three possessions.

Clarence Laster, the NCAA Division II leader in picks, likely will stay at that spot after collecting his fifth and sixth of the year. Teammate Marvin Tribble got his third of the season with 5:31 to play. Tribble's return and a personal foul that was added at the end gave SWOSU the ball at the Southeastern 39-yard line.

The Bulldogs got within easy range for Rainey as Dustin Stenta found Bruce Hatton for an acrobatic 24-yard catch to the Southeastern four-yard line. Three plays failed to move the ball and Rainey tied it at 20-20 with a 21-yard field goal with 1:57 to play.

The win improved SWOSU to 4-1 on the season and 2-1 in the Great American Conference play. The Bulldogs are off to their best start since 2002 and will next play at home Saturday, Oct. 8 against East Central University.

Kickoff is set for 2 p.m.

Statistically, the game was as close as the outcome. The Bulldogs managed 355 yards of total offense while Southeastern was a step behind at 344.

Stenta completed 18-of-38 passes for 214 yards threw for one touchdown, a 27-yard strike to Esau Bauknight that tied the game at 14-14 midway through the second quarter.

D.C. Walker led the Bulldogs on the ground with 72 yards on 27 carries. He also scored a touchdown, the game's first when plowed in from 11-yards out after a 12-play, 70 yard opening possession drive.

Laster again sparked at free safety. In addition to his two picks, he had 12 tackles to lead the team. Leo Tavo also reached double figures with 11 stops and also recovered a fumble.

Volleyball team cruises at home

wins in straight sets against Henderson State

WEATHERFORD, Okla. — Southwestern Oklahoma State University made it look easy rolling past visiting Henderson State 3-0 in a volleyball game Saturday in Weatherford. The Bulldogs were winners by scores of 25-11, 25-15 and 25-17.

SWOSU, now 5-7 on the year, improved to 3-3 in the Great American Conference. Henderson

State fell to 4-14 and 0-6 in league play. SWOSU will next play Thursday against nationally-ranked Harding University at 7 p.m. in Weatherford.

The Bulldogs needed the easy walkthrough after playing the afternoon following a two-plus hour slugfest against Ouachita the night before. SWOSU finished against Henderson with 41 kills against 13 errors on 105 attacks for a hitting percentage of .267.

Adriana Rodriguez led SWOSU with 11 while LaKendra Sanders was right behind at 10.

Defensively, Sladjna Smiljanic had 20 digs while Stephanie Parker added 18.

Henderson State finished with nearly as many errors (20) as kills (22) in 104 attacks. The Reddies hit just .019.

Melissa Banks led the Southwestern team in last week's competition at Oklahoma State University.

Cross country competes at OSU

STILLWATER, Okla. — Southwestern Oklahoma State University's cross country team ran against its biggest field of competitors this season at the Oklahoma State University Jamboree Saturday in Stillwater.

The Bulldogs were one of 32 teams and 205 runners that competed in the College Division. SWOSU finished 16th in the race with 420 points.

Friends University was the team winner with 33 points thanks in part to the meet winner, Jordan Arnold who covered the five-kilometer course in a time of 18:11.

SWOSU's top finisher was Melissa Banks for the second race in a row. She finished 38th with a time of 19:56. The remainder of SWOSU's finishers their time and place are as follows: Jennifer Osborn was 65th with a time of 20:18; Emily Hickey was 81st with a time of 20:32; Lauren Robinson was 113th with a time of 21:22; Sarah Hix was 123rd with a time of 21:31; Carissa Curtis was 124th with a time of 21:32 and Kelli Quimby was 134th with a time of 21:44.

Hailey leads Bulldogs

Southwestern kept its Great American Conference record unbeaten, defeating its second straight league foe in a three-day span with a 6-0 shutout of Harding University Sunday in women's soccer.

Courtney Hailey continued her hot streak scoring a season-high three goals. Hailey has taken over the team lead in scoring with five goals in a three-game span. Her goal in the game's 24th minute put SWOSU ahead at 1-0. She took a crossing pass in front of the goal by teammate Kelsey Visor and blasted a shot into the lower left corner of the goal. Hailey's second came as a result of a penalty kick in the game's 27th minute. Visor had broken free and was brought down in the box by a Harding defender that resulted in both a red card and an ejection. The Bison played short-handed the remainder of the match.

SWOSU coach Mark Persson was pleased with how his Bulldogs looked in all facets of the game.

"We really played well from start-to-finish," Persson said. "Our forwards and our midfielders were on the same page. They did a good job of possessing the ball and pressing the attack."

SWOSU improved to 4-6-1 with the win and 2-0 in the GAC. The Bulldogs will next play at home in an important match against East Central, the GAC's other unbeaten team, on Friday.

"This is a good result," Persson said. "Any time you win 6-0 a lot of positives happened. We've got to keep building on what we accomplished here and be ready for East Central."

The shutout was SWOSU's second straight with Corey LaMoureux in goal.

Hailey added her third goal in the game's 64th minute to put SWOSU ahead 5-0. She became the first SWOSU player to score three times in a single game since Carrie Dumbauld did it in a 2006 game against St. Gregory's.

SWOSU's other goals came by Josie Price in the 51st minute, Visor in the 53rd and Natalie Crosslin in the 67th minute.

Courtney Hailey again scored three goals to lead Southwestern to an easy 6-0 victory over Harding. The Bulldogs play East Central at home on Friday.

Basketball team will face Texas Tech in exhibition

WEATHERFORD, Okla. — Southwestern's head men's basketball coach Charlie Schaefer announced that the Bulldogs 2011-12 schedule will include an exhibition game at Texas Tech University. Schaefer and Tech officials finalized the contract that will send his Bulldogs to Lubbock, Texas on Thursday, Nov. 3 to play the Red Raiders at the 15,000-seat United Spirit Arena. Game time is set for 7 p.m.

"We're really excited that we are getting this opportunity," Schaefer said. "Everybody wants to play on this type of stage. It will be a great experience for both our players and our supporters. The game, and the venue, will send a positive message to our future recruits that we will try and showcase them in the biggest possible way.

Schaefer has maintained an active relationship with current Texas Tech head coach Billy Gillispie, who had previously led the University of Kentucky. Gillispie's Kentucky team played Schaefer, who was then coach at Ouachita Baptist in 2008. Kentucky was a 94-72 winner after leading by only eight points at the half.

SWOSU's game against Texas Tech will be the last of two exhibitions in which the Bulldogs will play. SWOSU hosts future Great American Conference foe Southern Nazarene on Tuesday, Nov. 1 at 7 p.m.

The challenging regular season starts Friday, Nov. 11 when the Bulldogs face rival Northwestern Oklahoma State University on the opening day of the SWOSU Classic. The second day games on Saturday, Nov. 12 will be against Lincoln University. Both Classic games will tipoff at 7:30 p.m.

The Bulldogs, who will be competing in the Great American Conference, will continue a home-and-home matchups with instate rivals Northeastern State and Central Oklahoma. Both schools were longtime conference foes as ex-members of the Lone Star Conference.

SWOSU visits UCO on Nov. 15 and the Bronchos return the game on Dec. 6. A trip to Northeastern awaits SWOSU on Dec. 15 with the return matchup back in Weatherford on Feb. 6.

Also highlighting the schedule will be a post Thanksgiving tournament in Dallas, Texas on the campus of Dallas Baptist University. The Bulldogs will play Arkansas-Fort Smith and the hosts, DBU, on Nov. 25 and Nov. 26, respectively.

The GAC schedule which includes eight home dates and eight road dates starts on Jan. 5 at Henderson State followed by a Jan. 7 game at Ouachita Baptist.

RES LIFE

COLLABORATION FOR CANS

BY MILES MYERS

ResLife and C.A.B. will be conducting a food drive from September 28th through October 15th. Those who donate will be eligible to win one of two Toshiba laptops, which will be raffled away at halftime of the Homecoming game. Both on-campus residents and off-campus students will be eligible to win. On-campus residents will be given red raffle tickets and off-campus students will be given blue tickets. There will be three drop-off stations, one each for on-campus and off-campus students and one shared drop-off station. The drop-off station for on-campus residents will be the ResLife office, the off-campus students' drop-off station will be the Dean of Students office and the shared drop-off station will be at the department of art with Heather Moffitt. There will also be drop-off stations for both on-campus and off-campus students before the Homecoming game. ResLife will have their drop-off station at the tailgating event before the game, where they will give away red tickets and C.A.B.'s deposit station will be at their tent where they will give away blue tickets.

CAN'T BE MISSED EVENTS

BY KENNY SHROPSHIRE

The nice weather we have been having has drawn many SWOSU students out of their dorm rooms to participate in outdoor activities. One event that was very popular on campus was the capture the flag tournament put on by Residence Life. On September 15th, residents from Neff and Oklahoma Hall participated in several games of capture the flag. A Neff R.A., Clint Sylvester, said that the game was not only a lot of fun, but great exercise as well. On the 21st there was a cookout at Neff Hall. Residents took part in playing a variety of yard games and a huge game of ping-pong. Several lucky residents won a raffle, which allowed them to throw pies at the faces of 9 R.A.'s. As you can see, Residents Life has been providing many opportunities for students to come and get to know each other while having a lot of fun. Be looking out for a brand new Drunk Driving Awareness event coming on October 18th.

Cash Cooper's Writings

Stress is a lot like Jason Voorhees, a silent killer. You might think you're having a pleasant day at the lake when all of a sudden, WHAM! You're dead. But thanks to me, you can take some precautions before someone makes a thousand movies about you losing your head.

1. Don't sweat the small stuff.

Everyone makes mistakes. Learn to accept the things that you can't control, and life will be a lot smoother.

2. Have a support group to turn to.

Everyone needs to vent/cry at some time or another. Whether it be your family or friends, have someone that you can confide in.

3. Be Active.

Exercise and activities will not only take your mind off your worries, but will also get you in better shape to outrun Jason's machete.

So next time you are stressing out about school, keep these things in mind, and remember that someone always survives in the end.

Do you agree with Cash? Disagree? Fallen in love with him? Let him know. Send all questions, comments, or solutions to the world's problems to res.life@swosu.edu.
